HYDE PARK, N. Y., April 29.—President Roosevelt adopted a momentary policy of silent watchful waiting today as sentiment crystallized in European capitals over German Chancellor Hitler's newest territorial demands on Poland.

No Comment

There was strictly no comment from the Hyde Park house in answer to Hitler's Reichstag rejection of the president's peace proposal.

Further, it was fairly well anticipated by presidential aides that Mr. Roosevelt would ignore the Hitler challenge when he speaks in New York Sunday afternoon formally to open the world's fair.

The president and Mrs. Roosevelt were busy today entertaining Crown Prince Olav and Crown Princess Martha of Norway, first of the royal visitors to arrive for the New York fair.

The attractive Norwegian couple were introduced this noon to one of Mrs. Roosevelt's famous picnics.

Informal Hospitality

Olav and Martha were enjoying most informal hospitality. Guest lists were taboo. Dinner parties at

PA NEW OBSERVES

City "clean-up week" will be ended today. Throughout the entire week city trucks have been busy hauling away from homes several hundred loads of tin cans and other debris. The work has been expeditiously done, and the week's program has been entirely successful.

Daylight time becomes effective on Sunday morning in metropolitan centers. Clocks will be changed in the early hours in those cities. New Castle clocks will not be changed, this city not observing the daylight time schedule.

No new detours are listed in the local district on the Detour Bulletin of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways for the period ending May 12, which arrived today and is kept posted in the lobby of The News.

Pa. News notes that the holes in the pavement on Neshamock avenue have all been patched up and the street is in fairly good condition again. The pavement as a whole shows signs of wear, however, and will probably need some more patching before the summer is over.

Many of the Pinchot type roads in the rural district have some bad holes in them, and a considerable amount of repair work will have to be done very soon.

New Castle is getting a lot of unfavorable comment over the condition of the paving on parts of East Washington street by many of the

Hitler's Speech Fails To Alarm British

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 29.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's government remained outwardly calm today in the face of Chancellor Hitler's repudiation of the Anglo-German naval treaty but prepared to maintain its superiority over the Reich at sea "ship for ship."

It was learned that any German naval building program that threatens to challenge Britain's 65 per cent naval advantage over the Reich will be met by sufficient British construction to keep the present ratio intact.

At the same time, informed quarters believed the British ambassador at Berlin, Sir Neville Henderson, may be instructed to ask Hitler to explain his offer to negotiate a new pact with Britain replacing the naval agreement which he junked during his speech before the Reichstag yesterday.

Sir Neville may be instructed to inquire whether Hitler's offer applies to a naval agreement or to a general pact for limitation of armaments.

Britain Not Alarmed

Meanwhile, it was clearly evident that Hitler's speech failed to alarm the British government.

Chamberlain, after reading the text of the Fuehrer's lengthy remarks, left London for a week end at his Chequers country home.

Nevertheless, a certain amount of

Says Unemployment Compensation Fund Equal To Any Demand

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 29.—Complete confidence that Pennsylvania's unemployment compensation fund could meet any financial demands made upon it by employed miners was expressed today even in the event of a complete shutdown in the coal industry.

At the same time, it was revealed that 25,000 bituminous miners are ineligible for compensation benefits, having exhausted their benefit rights previous to the bituminous shutdown.

Ernest Kelly, executive director of the division of unemployment compensation, said that he could conceive of no possible situation that could deplete the fund.

"There are more than ample funds to take care of all possible demands," he said, "regardless of how long the bituminous shutdown continues or even if the anthracite miners stop work."

The anthracite contract expired March 31. Negotiations in New York are now attempting to effect a settlement.

Anthracite operators and miners agreed late yesterday to extend their present contract, which would have expired at midnight tonight, for one week pending further study of proposals on both sides.

Kelly said that at the most he estimated that the 85,000 bituminous miners eligible for benefits could receive $11,000,000 in compensation and the anthracite miners a lesser sum in proportion to their smaller number.

POLICY COMMITTEE
CALLED FOR TUESDAY

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 29.—Deadlocked bituminous coal wage negotiations today reached the crisis stage with John L. Lewis calling for a showdown by next week to end the "fare" of current negotiations.

Lewis' declaration which bore implied warning of a nationwide shutdown of all coal producing areas was given to newspapermen as the mine operators, obtaining a recess until 3 o'clock this afternoon of the scheduled joint bargaining conference, caucused among themselves on a proposal to be placed before the joint meeting late today.

Calls Policy Committee

Lewis re-inforced his warning by summoning to New York the 150 members of the full policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America to meet here on Tuesday.

He took pains to emphasize that the intra-union meeting would convene on the eve of expiration date for agreements in the bituminous areas outside the Appalachian field, and only a few days prior to expiration BERLIN, April 29.—Quickly following up his Reichstag speech with political action to cement Germany's friendships, Chancellor Adolf Hitler concentrated today on securing Hungary in the spreading German orbit.

The Fuehrer, who yesterday turned down President Roosevelt's peace proposals and denounced the Anglo-German naval and German-Polish non-aggression agreements, moved swiftly to form a "ring of political friendship" around the Reich in opposition to what he regards as Anglo-French efforts to encircle Germany with potential foes.

To Receive Diplomats

Hitler prepared to receive Hungary's two chief diplomats, Premier Count Paul Teleki and Foreign Minister Count Stephen Csaky, who are arriving for a visit of several days.

During their stay in Germany, Teleki and Csaky will engage in important talks with German authorities designed to cement even tighter the bonds between Hungary and the Nazi Reich.

It was believed that Hungarian-Polish relations also will be discussed.

Duce returned to Rome from his country villa at Rocca Della Caminita to attend the meeting. Mussolini will confer tomorrow with General Walther Von Brauchitsch, chief of the German army general staff, tomorrow. The German military yesterday spoke with General Alberto Pariani of the Italian army concerning Italo-German military dispositions in event of war.

Various matters of international concern were discussed. The total amount of new military appropriations was not disclosed.

In connection with preparedness measures, it was understood that the cruises of several Italian vessels to the New York World's fair had been cancelled.

Plan To Exhume More Bodies In Poisoning Cases

Detectives Spurred By Confessions Of Guilt Of Two
Involved In Poison
Conspiracy

INSURANCE SUMS
WERE AIM OF RING

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 29.—Spurred by confessions from two principals in Philadelphia's notorious murder-for-insurance ring, detectives today obtained court permission to exhume the bodies of three more of the upwards of 100 victims suspected to have been caught in the conspiracy's deadly toils.

Court orders directing that the bodies of John Mandiuk, Antonio Romualdo and John Woloshyn be dug up provided the latest development in lightning-like moves by which authorities expect to involve more than 75 suspects in America's greatest "mass murder" case.

Will Disinter Bodies

The remains of the men—whose respective widows all were held without bail on murder charges earlier this week—will be disinterred Monday, authorities announced.

Immediate chemical examination will be made on the bodies of the first two men, investigating officials revealed, in an effort to substantiate present evidence that they were fed fatal doses of arsenic so that federal life insurance payments might be collected on them.

Buried as a hit-run motor victim, Woloshyn in reality was clubbed senseless and then deliberately run down by an automobile, detectives believe. Approximately $7,000 insurance was paid upon his death.

Meanwhile, the two confessions—covering 11 deaths attributed to the ring—were obtained, detectives said, from Rafael Polseil, 55, of Washington, D. C., hitherto considered a minor figure in the case, and Herman Petrillo, the 49-year-old spaghetti and olive oil salesman who already has been convicted as a ringleader and faces a death penalty.

Sons Of North Beaver To Be Honored Tonight

W. S. FULLERTON

No more tickets are being sold for the testimonial dinner which tonight will be held to honor Assemblyman W. Sharp Fullerton and Highway Superintendent Edwin O. Reed. At noon today the number sold totaled about 425 which is as large a crowd as can be accommodated in the Westfield grange hall.

The dinner starts at five o'clock and service will be continuous until everybody is fed. At eight o'clock the program of the evening starts, with former state Grange Master J. Audley Boak in charge as chairman. Speakers include State Grange Master Kenzie Bagshaw, Prof. V. H. Dunit of Slippery Rock State Teachers college and Rev. H. A. McCurdy.

Both In North Beaver

Both the men being honored are residents of North Beaver township, having resided there since birth. Mr. Fullerton was elected to the General Assembly in November 1935 on the Republican ticket. It was his second try for the office being defeated in 1936 by the same man he defeated in 1935, James B. Kelso. Mr. Fullerton is now serving in the session of the general assembly which has been under way since January.

Mr. Reed left the county service to take over the duties of highway superintendent. For three years he was the welfare officer of the county. Prior to that he had been engaged in stone quarry work.

While the affair is being sponsored by the Westfield grange it is not confined to grange members. More than half of the crowd will be from New Castle it is estimated.

NEW YORK, April 29.—Constantine Oumansky Soviet Charge D'Affaires, reported at 8:30 a. m. (EST) today that a rescue plane had reached the Russian plane Moskva which landed in Northeastern New Brunswick last night, ending what was to have been a Moscow-New York non-stop flight.

Several planes were en route to the spot where the trans-Atlantic flight ended and it was not immediately established which was the one to arrive first.

It was thought likely, however, that it was the plane piloted by Ralph S. Bourdon and carrying V. T. Boutseur, Russian air representative, which left New York at approximately ten p. m., last night.

WARSAW, April 29.—A defiant Poland made ready today to "resist by all means in her power," if necessary, any German coup in the free city of Danzig or the Polish corridor.

Warning to this effect was served after Chancellor Hitler, in his Reichstag speech, denounced the German-Polish non-aggression pact. Poland's determination to remain steadfast against German demands for Danzig was stressed in a statement made on behalf of the Polish foreign office in response to Hitler's renewal of his claims upon Poland.

Pact Repudiated

(Background note: In his speech yesterday Hitler repudiated the 10-year non-aggression pact with Poland which was to have run until 1944. He demanded restoration of Danzig to the Reich and revealed Germany recently made Poland a "concrete offer," which the Polish government rejected.)

A government spokesman, after reading Germany's formal notification of denunciation of the treaty, made it clear that Poland will not yield to Hitler's demand for a sovereign right of way across the Polish Corridor.

To support its stand, the Polish government is fortified by new defensive arrangements with Great Britain and France, into which Soviet Russia also may soon be drawn on a formal basis.

German Demands Unjustified

LONDON, April 29.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today was in receipt of a message warning the government against trying to conscript Irishmen in the British army.

De Valera also protested against possible drafting of Irishmen who live and work temporarily in England, Scotland or Wales.

I know some other chaps want to play, so that's what we're going to do, just golf a bit as we soak in sun, for the weather is right and its sixty one and the fleecy ceiling is blue.

Plan To Air War Referendum Move

Hearings Will Be Held Shortly

Committee Gets Thousands Of "Keep Us Out Of War" Letters

NEUTRALITY IDEAS WIDELY DIVERGENT

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Encouraged by thousands of letters closing with the appeal—"keep us out of war"—congressional sponsors of legislation compelling a national referendum before any declaration of war today pledged a finish fight on the measure at this session of congress.

Advocates of the proposal felt that Adolf Hitler's speech rejecting President Roosevelt's peace conference suggestion increased the need for the war referendum measure, and completed plans for public hearings on it beginning shortly after May 6.

Senator Hatch (D) New Mexico, chairman of the senate judiciary subcommittee handling the resolution promised sponsors he would not pigeon-hole it, but would report it favorably, unfavorably or without recommendation. Senator Borah (R) Idaho, is the only one of the three subcommittee members supporting the resolution.

Failure of the senate foreign relations committee to agree on any neutrality legislation brightened hopes of the war referendum forces, too. The committee concluded four weeks of hearings today, badly split over seven pending neutrality proposals.

There appeared little prospect that anything like an agreement could be secured before May 15, with chances about even for the administration-favored cash and carry neutrality bill.

HITLER'S SPEECH FAILS TO ALARM

anxiety was evident over Chancellor Hitler's demand for restoration of the free city of Danzig to the Reich. One source commented: "Watch Danzig!"

Hitler's comments on the Anglo-French anti-aggression front as an "encirclement" move also failed to shake the British government from its plan to pursue its efforts to attach Soviet Russia and Turkey to the Anglo-French entente in an effort to complete the projected "grand alliance" designed to halt European aggression.

Will Go Ahead

Similarly the government was determined to go ahead with its gigantic rearmament plan and its conscription program.

Winston Churchill, in a radio speech analyzing Hitler's speech, warned that the denunciation of Germany's non-aggression pact with Poland "must be regarded as the most serious feature" of the address and as a "new cause for anxiety."

Churchill, however, noted a "certain improvement" in the character and quality of Hitler's remarks and added:

"This improvement is no doubt largely due to the action of the President of the United States in sending his memorable message of peace and warning to the world a fortnight ago."

many's desire for peace, but also stressed her claims upon the free city of Danzig and for colonies.

It was understood in informed quarters in Berlin that the Chancellor was not entirely "displeased" with the "soreness" that his speech produced in the United States.

Reaction from the United States was said to be having a "minimum effect" upon Hitler's political calculations, since it was anticipated in German circles that the Fuehrer's method of replying to President Roosevelt's peace message would stir up a hue and cry in America.

More attention was paid to European reaction, which was accepted as evidence of the desire of western European countries to explore new possibilities of an approach to an understanding with the Reich.

On Monday, Hitler will deliver a May day address lasting 35 minutes, after which he is expected to retire to Berchtesgaden to continue his interrupted rest at his mountain retreat.

the Hudson River estate called only for black ties and "relatives and neighbors" sat around the board.

The crown prince and crown princess of Norway arrived at Poughkeepsie late yesterday afternoon. President and Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by their naval military aides, were waiting on the chilly, over-clouded lumber dock as the White House yacht swung smartly in.

While movie men and still photographers recorded the occasion, the two couples engaged in animated conversation. Fragmentary snatches indicated they were discussing the Hitler speech. Mr. Roosevelt raised his voice sufficiently at one point so bystanders heard him say something about "leaving the door open an inch." He was talking at the moment to Crown Princess Martha. Whether he inferred that Hitler's statement still had left "the door open an inch" could not be developed.

The president's world fair speech was in the hands of the mimeographer, waiting only for formal release. Mr. Roosevelt had convened definite word Thursday afternoon that regardless of what Hitler might say he did not intend to offer rebuttal at the fair. In every recent speech, the president has worked in observations easily interpreted as a challenge to the dictator states.

Note to Congressmen: Why talk of giving everybody a gas mask when it would be so much cheaper to give every war-monger a gag?

State Workers Have Been Paid $84,724,694 Benefits From Unemployment Funds

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 29.—Pennsylvania workers, temporarily or permanently losing their jobs, have been paid $84,724,694 in unemployment compensation benefits under the Social Security Act, the Social Security Board reported today.

Payments have been larger in only one state, totaling $110,084,251 in New York.

Such payments are made to workers covered by the Social Security Act who have been employed since that law became effective but have been laid off. Payments are financed by a three per cent payroll tax upon employers.

Payments to Pennsylvania jobless totaled $5,206,632 in March. This represented a 69.6 per cent gain over February. In the country as a whole, March benefits increased only 40.7 per cent. During March, 81,545 new jobs in the Keystone state applied for payments, an increase of 1.1 per cent over February.

While some of the trees are in full bloom, most of them are just beginning to develop leaves. However, if Sunday proves a nice day, there will be thousands of motorists driving the highways in this area. "Safety first" should be the aim of every driver.

On the grassy spots near the express office on the west side, a few trees are being planted, which will no doubt improve the appearance of the location.

Reaching from the diamond the entire distance up East Washington street to Neshannock avenue, Friday evening was a layer of white limestone dust on the brick pavement. The dust had sifted out of a truck loaded with crushed limestone.

According to C. N. Giddings, forester for the Pennsylvania Power Company, he and his crew were called upon this week to remove the upper part of a tree from a roof in the rear of 18 North Jefferson street.

The tree had fallen on the roof, when someone had tried to remove the tree the day before.

One of the most attractive flower beds in the city now is the tulip bed located on the lawn of the home at the corner of North Jefferson and Grant street.

THE LESSON OF HISTORY

IT MAY be, as the warmongers insist, that the outbreak of a general European conflict would mean America's ultimate participation. But anyone who has read history and who is able to grasp the realities of international affairs must know that constant thinking and talking in terms of military action is in itself a potent cause of war.

At the moment America's interests are not directly concerned with European developments. However, they may become involved to a menacing extent unless our government officials and citizens everywhere vigilantly cling to the ideals of peace and neutrality.

Thinking people who have taken the trouble to study events leading up to America's entry into the World War are well aware of the fact that the final move was due to a combination of propaganda, mob hysteria, official presumption and financial involvement. By avoiding these same mistakes in the present setting, the United States unquestionably could keep out of war for an indefinite period.

If the lives of thousands, not to say millions, of young Americans are worth considering the patriotic thing is for the people of this country silently to endorse reasonable strengthening of national defenses and openly to spurn the war frenzy of those who still think it is up to us to save the world.

The sound neutrality policy originally pursued by President Wilson was predicated upon precisely this kind of disinterested thought and action. It was only when America fell victim to the deliberately propagated philosophy of militarism and to the insensate greed of the international financiers that the dogs of war were let loose upon an essentially peace-loving nation. That is the lesson of history which the whole country should heed in these troublous times.

A NATIONAL HARDSHIP

Again, with the reasons for complaint exceptionally aggravating the general public is in the middle, as the shut-down in the Appalachian soft coal fields continues. Prices are up; serious industrial shortages exist; a deplorable added to the combination of others, domestic and foreign, with which business and industry are contending.

Why? The nub lies in the insistence by John L. Lewis that new contracts with the operators assure to the United Mine Workers, his original union and the one around which he built up CIO, an exclusive monopoly of the jobs in the bituminous mines. The American Federation of Labor has lately tried to enter the field.

Here we have a struggle, already costly and which may become paralyzing, not about wage rates or hours, not about inhumane working conditions, and not about the right to bargain or even the "check off" that assures collections of dues. Already existing, the "closed shop" is sought to be made one in which Lewis would be an omnipotent dictator.

A sorry comment is provided on the legislative and executive friendships by the Administration. The President is imperatively called upon to bring about, by enforcement if necessary, a prompt solution.

ALL SILENT NOW

Only a few weeks ago a number of New Deal gentlemen were sidling up to business with soft words and promising that they would do all in their power to help remove governmental restrictions about which businessmen have been complaining for a long time.

But now all is silent along the "appeasement" front.

The great hope of the appeasers was Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins who outlined his intentions toward business in his speech at Des Moines. Since then he has been practically silent and no recommendations or actions of major importance have been reported from his department since that speech.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., was in the van of the appeasement movement, too. He has done more than Hopkins, to be sure, but it seems that he is leaning on the oars at present. He quit working at appeasement after recommending cancellation of proposed increases in the Social Security taxes.

The best guess and the logical assumption is that the appeasers in the New Deal company have gotten word from higher up that they should abandon the idea of attempting to soothe the fevered brow of business so it can recover.

Great Britain dropped appeasement only after Chamberlain discovered that it did not do the trick with Germany and Italy. But business appeasement as a policy for the administration was not given a chance to prove its worth.

PAYROLL PADDING ON A WHOLESALE SCALE

The shocking extreme to which Democratic politicians went in misusing state funds in a desperate attempt to swing last fall's election in Pennsylvania is shown in the Highway Department's latest report on the Luzerne county vote-buying case.

A complete audit and investigation made by the secretary of highways has resulted in the startling disclosure that the department payroll in that county was padded to the extent of $1,600,000 just before the November election.

This money was handed out by the Democrats then in charge of highway funds, not because it was needed for highway improvements, but because the badly-pressed Democratic politicians in Arthur James' home county wanted it for patronage purposes on the eve of the gubernatorial election.

Jobs were distributed frantically, work cards exchangeable for cash were handed out in wholesale lots and the highway department's normal disbursement in Luzerne county skyrocketed—all in hopes of winning friends and influencing people in favor of the candidates on the Democratic ticket.

This show of largesse with public funds bears all the earmarks of vote-buying and it unquestionably warranted the grand jury investigation that has already resulted in a number of indictments. When the probe got under way the payroll padding for political purposes was estimated at about $800,000. The new report doubles that figure—and makes further action to place responsibility for this amazing deal twice as imperative.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD ISN'T GUINEA PIG

WE HAVE come a long way in our study of the child. For many years we talked and wrote about the child as if he were a pup or guinea pig. That was just child training. Now we are thinking of the child in all his relationships.

We have learned that his guidance, conduct and state of happiness depend upon the whole atmosphere of the family, even while he is a tiny infant, and that the parent relationships are the chief factors in creating this atmosphere. We also know that this child or other children in the family greatly affect the father-mother relationship. Accordingly, we are thinking of the whole family.

Recently I served on the program of a conference at Ohio State University, the "Ohio Institute on Family Relations." It was held under the auspices of 33 co-operating organizations of that state, each interested in some phase of the home and family.

Home Training
Marital relationships were emphasized most at this conference. Yet, at almost every step in the discussion the home training of the father and mother during childhood came to the fore as the chief contributor to marital success or failure. It was evident that the best training for marriage and parenthood begins with the child at birth who has parents that live happily together.

I remember of hearing a certain mother say, in one of my university classes, a few years ago, "I see now that our job is not just to bring up our children to be good persons but also to be good wives and husbands, good fathers and mothers."

Dr. James S. Plant, psychiatrist of Essex County Juvenile Clinic, Newark, New Jersey, forcefully drove this idea home before the institute. He held that facts about sex are of no value to children until these children acquire right attitudes and ideals about sex. He deplored the emphasis on sex techniques in the literature and teachings on marriage adjustments, and the corresponding neglect of emphasis on personal self-discipline and exemplary family life for children who are to be husbands and wives. He made us feel that we parents from the time our children are born, even before, are chiefly responsible for their marital success.

Family Atmosphere
Considering the family atmosphere from the angle of the child as an individual later, Professor William McDougall writes:
"The budding emotions and sentiments are molded and encouraged along the right lines of absorption of the atmosphere about him. But if there are ugly things in that atmosphere, then, no matter how carefully they may try to hide these things, the child will suffer some distortion of development. . . . In many a family neurotic disorders breaking in successive generations are attributed to hereditary constitutional defects, when in reality they are due to lack of propitious family atmosphere, a lack which propagates itself from generation to generation in the form of defects of character."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ARE WE CRAZY?

Spring fever, make no mistake about it, has America by the ears.

But it's awfully hard on the goldfish. Those college pranksters who have sprung up like mushrooms after a warm rain, and started yling with one another in glibbing goldfish by the scores—yes, scores!—just show what happens when spring fever puts that certain thing in the air.

The Massachusetts student who downed sixty-seven of the little wriggling fish failed to stop the madcap nonsense. He only spurred his competitors on to new feats of brief glory. Now they're eating phonograph records.

But we wonder. Is spring fever entirely to blame? No, there's a dash of America's old-time love for crazy fads evident in this goldfish-ate record eating. Remember the days of 29? When those dizzy re-creators were trying to out-sit each other on trees all over the land? That was the sky-larking year when pee-wee golf swept the country like a tornado only soon to be swept away again, leaving a few land-marcs here and there. And then along came those hectic dance marathons for their short whirl of fame. But the dance marathons hurried on to oblivion only to cast their mantle on a new craze—the jitter-bugs, their jam sessions, and their swing contests, loud with unintelligible shouts couched in the swing's English.

We're a people with plenty of energy, but when we blow off steam in all these highfalutin varieties of fun and foolishness, nobody is much harmed by it. There are plenty of places on earth today where people just haven't learned the knack of letting off steam harmlessly, so they let it out by beating up people, which is another kind of foolishness.

And again I say, a College education has become a wonderful addition to the gaily of nations.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:53. Sun rises tomorrow 5:01.

It's a good idea to make a war garden this summer even if there will be no war. There will be a war among the kids eating the good stuff grown. Plenty of ground can be had for the asking.

Some one has complained that the new Jefferson nickels will not go into a slot machine. Some one erred. They'll go into a slot machine as slick as you please, trouble is, though, they're terribly reluctant about coming out.

PATIENCE

Patience, a lovely gem, is crystal pure;

It sheds a radiance wherever 'tis found;

Like love, can be felt where it may abound.

It will for those within its ken procure

A perfect peace—unsettled mind will lure

To rest and still the hurt within the wound

Or make sweet music of the raucous sound

And love for its possessor thus assure.

Ah me! 'Tis few who do this gem possess,

Yet 'tis to us our hearts' one fond desire;

Could we but gain one faintest soft caress

Of that one gem for which we all aspire

Then we might to assuage some of distress

And more of faith in God by man inspire.

The great danger of bad times is bad remedies.

Now we are told that a good place to find drivers who are drunk is when they stop at gas stations for gas. That may be, but the owners of gas stations are not going to drive trade away by reporting those birds to the police.

Strive always to be fair, and remember that those who don't think as you do have a perfect right to their foolish and illogical opinions.

Charging disorderly conduct, James Skala, dog catcher, recited this complaint against Walter Mink, milkman, in an Oak Park, Ill., court: "I was slinking silently down an alley when I saw a stray pup. Nothing else was in sight but a milk cart. All of a sudden, the driver tooted his horn loudly and sang, 'Git along little doggie, git along.' The dog did."

Medicos do say that obesity is due either to glands or gluttony. My niece says that when she was at school Gladys always kept candy in her desk and always ate ice cream cones at recess, also on her way home. And now that Gladys has been launched into society I would wager that she sneaks in many a sundae while going to and fro and many a pretzel or potato chip during the cocktail hour. I have known several of these gland sufferers and have noted that they have always scorned the green foods and partaken generously of the white ones—starches and sugars. True, we need both, but not in profusion. Few of them have managed to stay long on the water wagon.

Reader's Question Answered
"D r Miss Markel—In case of a secret wedding, the bride's parents knowing nothing regarding it until afterward, would it be in order for them to send out announcements weeks after?"

SUGGESTION TO HUSBANDS

It is sound practice for a married man to step into the kitchen occasionally and prepare dinner for himself. This proceeding will (a) warn the female contingent that he is self-sufficient, and (b) allow him to eat his fill of items of which he is particularly fond.

Last night we were told that we had better go to a restaurant because "there wasn't a thing to eat in the house," so with an is-that-so look we said that we would take care of ourselves.

We found half a cold duck, a remnant of ham bone, lettuce, carrots, cottage cheese, jellies, apples, oranges, grapefruit, milk, cream, Rye and white bread were in the breadbox, and coffee in the cupboard.

We cut off half the side of the duck and a slice of ham. We tossed up a lettuce salad, gnawing carrots as we worked. We put butter, cheese and jelly on the table, sliced the rye bread, and measured four tablespoons of coffee into the drippler.

As we lighted the gas under the kettle, we decided that we might feel better if we began with something hot. From the pantry we brought out a can containing a pound of mock turtle soup, which we placed in boiling water, as directed, opened and served. Although delicious, we did not eat it all because we wanted space for the other dishes that surrounded us.

Well, it should be clear that we dined well. In less than an hour from the time we entered the kitchen we were in the living room, smoking our cigar and drinking the excellent black coffee.

This doesn't prove anything, but it goes to show . . .

There are still people who don't care about owning a home to live in when they can have two cars for a rented garage.

A Harvard savant declares that man is reverting to the ape. He is probably sticking around the university too closely.

Shame on Michigan! It has gone medieval. It has sent a blonde to jail. And the only thing she was guilty of was killing a man. Imagine!

An assistant fire marshal had Walter Cudmore of Brooklyn, N. Y., arraigned on an arson charge after Cudmore was alleged to have set fire to a parked automobile. The marshal said Cudmore had started the fire because it worried him to think how little firemen have to do besides play checkers.

Many a man has worried himself into an early grave because his physician told him the worst thing he could do is to worry about his condition.

Now we are told that congress may not adjourn until late in the summer. It don't look like a good summer.

We are never too old to kid ourselves.

Thousands of foreigners are now becoming American citizens. That's one of the best reasons in the world for those in America to hold up their country under any circumstances.

Senator Bridges Makes Change
Explaining What's In A Name
Middle Names Sometimes Count

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, April 29.—A newspaper friend of mine wrote a letter early in Sen. H. Styles Bridges term on Capitol Hill, to the New Hampshire solon, concerning some journalistic matter, now immaterial in its nature. He received a polite answer, signed "H. Styles Bridges."

Now, my friend knows H. Styles well and wishes him similarly. So he dispatched a confidential little note to the latter, in which he said: "Dear Senator, don't you realize that a public man who 'parts his name in the middle' (that is, starts it off with an initial) gives an impression of supposed superiority that has very undesirable and unpopular repercussions for a politician?"

H. Bridges would be all right, but just "Styles Bridges" would be better. It isn't a common name anyway; there's no danger that it will be mixed with any "John Smiths" or "Thomas Jones." Why not cut out that initial initial, and sign yourself plain "Styles Bridges?"

He got a response signed "Style-sie."

Since then Senator Bridges' name has appeared in the congressional directory as "Styles Bridges." Look in the last directory and you'll see it so.

Three-Barreled Names

For some reason or other this rule seems to hold pretty good generally. A middle initial isn't so bad; it isn't so conspicuously unusual and tony.

A three-barreled name also will pass muster.

Nevertheless Franklin Delano Roosevelt hasn't the punch to it that Theodore Roosevelt had, and Franklin D. Roosevelt isn't as satisfactory to the White House as Franklin Delano or mere Franklin.

By the same token Vice President Garner prefers "John Nance" to "John N."

This pair got their middle names so effectively incorporated into the record that they can't get them out at this late day; they would if they could manage it.

Two names seem to have more pep in them than a larger plurality.

Woodrow Wilson originally was "Thomas Woodrow," but he succeeded in unloading the "Thomas" before he became nationally prominent. Herbert Hoover was "Herbert Clark Hoover." T. Woodrow Wilson would have been an anticlimax. Herbert C. Hoover wouldn't have been so gingerly, either, as Herbert, minus a middle name. Al Smith, minus more than Al E. Smith. "E." takes the individuality out of it.

How would W. George Washington sound? Or J. Thomas Jefferson? Or H. Abraham Lincoln? U. S. Grant got away with it, but he was an exception.

Up-to-Date Initials

I think Styles Bridges was well advised to eliminate "H" from his official designation.

Once we had an assistant secretary of state named A. A. Adee.

One day he had occasion to call up another government functionary on the telephone.

"This," he said, "is Adee speaking."

"Who?" said the other. "I don't catch the name. How do you spell it?"

"A," said Adee.

"Yeah?"

"O. K. What next?"

"A."

"Oh. — — —!" yelled the other functionary. And hung up in a fury.

So initials are quite significant.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

NEW YORK—Sen. Robert A. Taft pleads for a balanced federal budget.

"Unless we are prepared to wreck the United States we must find some one to say to the people and to congress that the government has certain limitations beyond which it cannot tax without choking all industry, and that the expenditures must be brought within that limitation."

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—President Roosevelt pleads for jobs for persons over 40.

"It is particularly important that these men and women who have reached the age where their family responsibilities are at a peak, receive their fair share of the new jobs and are at least allowed to compete for those openings on the basis of their actual qualifications, freed from the handicap of an unfounded prejudice against age alone."

NEW YORK—Dr. Clement C. Williams, president of Lehigh, says Americans are getting the wrong impression of their government.

"The people have been misled into thinking that government is a fabulous Santa Claus with unlimited riches whereas government has absolutely nothing but debts and such funds as it takes from the people through taxes and manipulation of currency."

DETROIT—Henry Ford sees his new tractor as a boon to farm life.

"If we can make farming easier, less expensive to start and more profitable to carry on, people will return to the land."

Words Of Wisdom

It is not the greatness of a man's means that makes him independent, so much as the smallness of his wants.—Cobbett.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

It's A Start, Anyhow

Washington, April 29.

THE prospect is that the regrouping plan of the President proposed under the Reorganization Act will be in effect soon after the sixty days have elapsed during which, if they do not approve, the House and Senate must pass concurrent rejecting resolutions. There is such slight chance this will be done that speculation concerning the heads of the proposed three agencies created by the plan has begun.

THEY are exceedingly important and powerful posts, and interest concerning the President's selections is keen. It is taken for granted that Mr. Jesse Jones will head the Federal Loan Agency, but no names for the other two have been suggested. It may be that the President does not yet know them himself. In any event, he must be gratified that the reorganization he has proposed seems so sound on the whole that the objections to which it is open are not sufficient to justify any real fight against it. Unquestionably it is in the interests of simplification and efficiency.

REORGANIZATION of the great, sprawling governmental structure has been badly needed for a great many years, but the New Deal, with its countless and conflicting new boards, bureaus, commissions and agencies, has increased that need to a point where actually the government is in a state of unpreparedness and baffling confusion. Any step such as Mr. Roosevelt has proposed, which will end the clashing of authority and restore a semblance of order is to be applauded, and it is not likely Congress will stand in the way. Nevertheless, it is still clear that the real reorganization which means economy will have to wait for another President. This President is not primarily concerned with economy. Economy with him is incidental to reorganization; with the anti-New Dealers it is the primary purpose.

IN the present suggestions of the President, despite the statement that he hopes it will save $15,000,000 or $20,000,000 a year, there is no real promise of economy, and an examination of the regrouping makes one extremely skeptical that any saving at all will be made. And yet, by abolition of useless agencies and a discontinuance of overlapping bureaus and a curtailment of emergency activities, it is possible to save—students such as Senator Byrd believe—upward of $150,000,000 a year. For that, or anything approaching that, we shall have to wait, as it clearly is not Mr. Roosevelt's idea to sacrifice a single one of his pet New Deal creations, manned by his "liberal friends." To do that is to admit their uselessness.

STRANGE CAREER

A St. Louis spinster, aged 89, who had lived a life of poverty, was found at her death to have left $143,000 in cash!—News Item.

Little lady, are you died?

Did you have one moment clear With all madnes put aside?

To review your strange career? Nine and eighty years you'd known Ere had come your time to die. Great the fortune you had grown. Did you stop to wonder why?

Poor you were the neighbors said, Taking life at lowest pitch, Living on a crust of bread.

For the sake of dying rich: Spending little, giving naught; Putting all life's pleasures by! While you still had time for thought? Did you think to question why?

Gratitude was near at hand. So were friendship, fame and pride; You had love at your command! These were harshly thrust aside. Nine and eighty years you braved All that makes the poorest sigh. So that money could be saved. Did you ever wonder why?

You were rich the hour you died. Something no one ever dreamed. Every living day you lied. Being never what you seemed. With a fortune hid from view Just to leave it when you'd die. Proof of all you'd failed to do. Spinster—did you wonder why?

Hints On Etiquette

Don't eat a sandwich with both hands and with both elbows planted on the counter or table. Elbows on tables while eating is not good manners, and most sandwiches are not heavy enough to need both hands to hold them. If it is too thick and "squashy" to bite into comfortably when held in one hand, put it on your plate or the paper on which it is wrapped and eat it with your fork.

The Great Game Of Politics

ON good authority it is stated that he was induced to hold out the hope that 15 or 20 millions might be saved only because some of his advisers urged that to ignore even a problematical economy would be to provide ammunition for his opponents and make criticism effective. He was especially reluctant to do so because of seeming to yield to pressure from Senator Byrd, who forced a declaration for economy into the preamble of the bill and whose consistent insistence on economy has greatly irritated the President. The latter did not include his economy reference in his recommendation that his attention had been called to this preamble and the point made that the Senate might resent it very much if wholly ignored.

ONE immediate effect of the President's plan is to cut the ground from under the Byrnes bill to reorganize the Federal Relief System. To such an extent is this true that Senator Byrnes has had to abandon his bill. It is true the President's proposal does much the same reorganizing of the relief agencies proposed by Senator Byrnes, though not in quite as effective and logical a way. What it does not do, however, is leave in the hands of Congress the right to lay down the formula for distribution of relief funds. Nor does it prohibit, as did the Byrnes bill, the diversion of funds appropriated for relief to activities not remotely connected with relief. Nor does it, as did the Byrnes bill, put an end to the practice of putting huge sums in the hands of a single man with practically no restrictions upon their use.

ONE of the targets of the Byrnes bill was Mr. Aubrey Williams, head of the National Youth Administration, who has something like $75,000,000 to expend annually, with very little restriction as to how. The Roosevelt regrouping for the time at least, protects and continues this situation. And it saves the WPA from drastic revamping. However, it is the intention of Senator Byrnes to offer new legislation at this session to restore Congressional control over the distribution of relief funds, to end the practice of diverting them and to restrict the expanding authority of the administrators. But in the matter of real economy nothing can be done before 1941. No real economy can ever be achieved without Presidential leadership and this President will not supply that kind.

ELLWOOD WOMAN'S CLUB OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY
ELLWOOD CITY, April 29.—Enthralled by the accomplished piano playing of Dallmeyer Russell, director of the Pittsburgh Musical Institute; charmed by the lovely soprano voice of Miss Lucile Bauch, Pittsburgh soloist, with Miss Irene Rotnour accompanist, and more than delighted with the surpassing excellence of selection by the Shelby Male Chorus of the National Tube company was the large, appreciative audience assembled last evening at the Lincoln high school auditorium for a concert presented as a medium of celebration of the 25th anniversary of the Ellwood City Womens club.

Only the highest praise of every part of the complete program was heard and Mrs. John H. Hough, president of the club, expressed the sentiments of the entire audience when she voiced the hope that it marked the beginning of a new and satisfactory type of entertainment for the city. With an impressive record of 25 years of most valuable and worthwhile community services, the Womens club has long set the pace for accomplishments of many kinds and in presenting this highly successful concert they once again staged a "four star" performance.

After the concert, a reception for members of the Woman's club and guests was held in the high school gymnasium which was attractively decorated in a spring garden setting with floor lamps lending a pleasing lighting effect.

An original skit depicting the periods of progress of the club was presented by Mrs. Thomas Haines, Mrs. Harold Burns, Mrs. Fred Hall, Mrs. Charles Stevenson, Mrs. Walter Gamble and Mrs. John Sartwell with Mrs. E. J. Liebenorfer as director. The participants were gown-ed in the fashion of the period they represented, adding amusement and color to the performance.

PERSONAL PHYSICIAN TO THE DIONNE QUINTUPLETS

Vaccination is so simple I can't imagine anyone being frightened of it. And I don't think they would be if they knew just what it was.

First the skin is prepared by washing with soap and water, followed by alcohol. Usually the spot chosen is on the outer surface of the upper arm, but in the case of girls, parents often insist that it be done on the upper part of the leg so as not to leave a scar on the arm. I don't think it is as satisfactory as the arm. However, if it is carefully watched so that it won't become infected, I suppose it is all right.

On the skin when it is prepared, two small scratches are made with a sterile needle. These scratches are about an eighth of an inch long, and are an inch apart from each other. The scratch should just be through the outer skin so that no blood is drawn. The vaccine is then squeezed out of its tube and rubbed on the scratches with the needle. The fluid should be allowed to dry and the area should be covered with gauze or with a loose sleeve.

After the vaccination, the mother should be warned to keep the wound very clean lest it become infected with other bacteria. Of course, the scratch shouldn't be washed too soon or the vaccine will be washed off before it gets a chance to take effect.

For the first three to five days, there is seldom any reaction. Then red spots appear around the scratch. These spots change in character, and in a day or two each seems to contain a drop of clear fluid. In about three days there is another change; the drops of fluid become creamy—this is pus. After four or five days more the spots dry up, scabs form, dry up and drop off, leaving a red scar. The red finally fades out of the scar, leaving the familiar vaccination mark. Years ago this scar used to remain for life, but the way we do it today even this scar disappears almost completely in a month or so. During the height of the lesion—fourth to twelfth day—there may be a slight fever, loss of appetite and pain in the limbs. These symptoms are frequently seen in the case of adults, seldom with children. The vaccination brings immunity to smallpox about the ninth day after vaccination.

The length of time of immunity varies with individuals, so the only way to be positive that your children are safe is to vaccinate them again after seven years. Sometimes one operation lasts a life time, but we can't be sure. Vaccination is such a slight operation, it doesn't pay to take any chances.

Vaccination plays some funny tricks at times. I recall one woman I vaccinated who touched her vaccination mark with her finger. Then she scratched her nose. When the vaccination took on her nose, and not on her arm. And you should have seen the nose she had. But only a minute scar was left. We had a similar example with the Quintuplets. Of course they were all interested in what was going on, and Emilie had to run her fingers over her vaccination. Then she scratched her wrist, or else there was a little scratch there to begin with. Anyway, her vaccination took on her wrist. In fact it took in both places, so she was well and truly vaccinated.

The Human Side Of The News

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Copyright 1939 King Features Syndicate, Inc.

If one had to pick a planetary hot spot with a long-distance record for ructions, conspiracies, brawls, double-crossings, back-alley diplomacy and similar homicidal doings, he couldn't do better than lay a sizeable bet on the neck of the town. Anteus bounced back and bopped Hercules with one of his old man's hefty tridents.

Then came the Phoenicians, Carthaginians, Romans, Vandals, Visigoths, Arabs, Spanish, Portuguese, British and French and Italians, with unending assault and battery, mayhem, piracy and murder, excitement, but with no quiet home life for anybody in those parts.

Tangier, a white-walled city, dominated by a high hill under an azure sky, is on the upper left shoulder of Africa, as you look at the map, and a gateway to Spanish Morocco and a strategic base of the Mediterranean. It is so important that in the long and bloody European free-for-all no one contender could allow any other to hold it. So they pooled its weird bodge-podge of races, religions, languages, hatred, intrigues, aromas, bazaars and sub-sub-basement crimes and placed the whole business under international control, which, so far, has kept the rival hatchmen at a standstill.

But it begins to look as if some kind of historic pay-off was at hand. As this is written, the cables report an army of about 75,000 of Franco's momentarily disengaged Moors, at the edge of the international zone, operating under control of the Axis powers.

In 1657 a famous English diplomat said that a half dozen frigates based at Tangier could control the Mediterranean and Northern Africa. Lord Nelson was the first to insist that it be internationalized and neutralized. All in all, it has been too hot for any one power to handle, and in the present flux and ferment of Europe it is one of England's worst headaches.

In 1923, Britain, France and Spain joined in a statute of internationalization, with Holland, Belgium, Portugal, and Sweden, later coming in. Russia was ignored. Italy did not come in until 1928. In one of his lucid intervals, our Uncle Sam declined to be a party to this arrangement. They sent him a nice, engraved invitation to come on over but he replied that he had another engagement. In 1935, Britain's Sir John Simon began to fuss and worry about Tangier, and disclosures of the last few months have shown that he had good reason to be uneasy.

Italy has been rolling up a propaganda barrage, agitating conspiring, and sapping British influence to a degree which foreign correspondents say has already delivered Tangier to Il Duce when he gets ready to take it. Italians have been filtering into the city for three years and it is reported that the propaganda machine has effectively influenced the polyglot population with rampant hatred for the British and French.

This, in view of the historic military and naval importance of the town, makes the approach of the Italian-officered Moorish army something of a climactic event. Britain and France have warships hovering around that vicinity, and are not unprepared for trouble. Train your telescope on Tangier when and if the riot call sounds from over the seas.

The British had it in the seventeenth century. Then, as now, the biffs and the riff-rafs were making trouble, so England pulled out in 1684, leaving huge fortifications which now "the lion and the lizard keep." It remained a center of international squabbles and intrigue until the close of the nineteenth century, when the French, having seized Algeria and Tunisia, gained ascendancy in its control. There was a long diplomatic encounter in the opening decades of this century, culminating in internationalization. Official languages are French, Spanish and Arabic, with France maintaining the police protectorate. There is an elaborate division of voting and administrative power among all the quarreling racial, national and religious groups, with East Indians, Egyptians, Turks, Russians, Moslems, Vandals, Byzantines and Greeks plotting in the labyrinthine underground—and on top of all this an elaborate and complicated system of proportional representation. Tangier is colorful, smelly and a hot spot for tourists looking for something different.

Oddly enough the Jews and Arabs are good friends in Tangier, particularly the poor and unfortunate among them. They have been pushed around for centuries by all comers in the Afro-European dog-fight, and they want no part of it. Driven underground, literally and intellectually, they see no dividend for them in any ground-level warfare and none of the synthetic and no doubt instigated hatreds of Palestine and Arabs Felix are in evidence. About 35,000 of the population of 60,000 are Moors.

A great many are out—out at the baseball game. Baseball—the great American sport.

But how many play it? Comparatively few. American spectacle. And a healthful one at that. Baseball offers relaxation from business cares.

It takes the sedentary worker into the fresh air. It stimulates and tones the entire body system.

There is a generous glad feeling when the home team wins. What if the home team loses?—Ma foi, alas and shucks!

FRESHMAN YEAR IS HARDEST ON PUPILS

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., April 29.—The freshman year in high school offers the student the greatest number of mental hazards, causing many students to drop out of school in their opening year, according to Dr. C. S. Anderson at Penn State college.

After a lengthy study of the records of many Pennsylvania high school students, the professor of agriculture found many pupils leave school because of failure to make passing grades. Discouragement, disinterest and a feeling that school has little to offer students also is a great cause for pupils to leave before graduation, he said.

Cincinnati In First Place As Cubs Lose Out

Ival Goodman Served Home Run Ball By Bill Lee In Last Of Ninth

ST. LOUIS BROWNS DEFEAT CLEVELAND

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 29.—One of the rarest feats in baseball is for a pitcher to win or lose a game on one pitched ball.

Years ago Eddie Rummel, then the mainstay of the Athletics' pitching corps, and now an American league umpire, was credited with a victory after pitching only one ball. He came in as a relief pitcher and retired the side by throwing one ball which the batter hit into a double play. The A's then came in to score and win and Rummel got the credit.

Reds Take First Place
And even further back I recall seeing Martin, a pitcher for the Cubs, called in from the Polo grounds bullpen to pitch the last half of the tenth inning against the Giants, then led by the late John McGraw.

Martin threw one ball to Earl Smith, the Giants' catcher, and "Oil" promptly shot it up into the stands for a homer winning the game. Martin, of course, was charged with the defeat.

And today the Cincinnati Reds are where most fans expect they'll finish the season—in first place—and Bill Lee, ace of the Cubs' staff, has suffered his first defeat, all because of one pitch. Lee came into the game in the last half of the ninth yesterday with the Cubs leading by two runs and with two Reds on base. Lee threw one ball to Ival Goodman and the big outfielder promptly slammed it into the bleachers, winning the ball game, 7 to 6.

The two men on base are charged up to Jack Russell who put them there but the game-winning homer and the defeat is charged to Lee.

Browns Top Indians
That was Goodman's third homer of the young season and puts him in a tie with Hank Greenberg of the Tigers for home run honors.

In the general astonishment of seeing the fine work of Fred Haney and his St. Louis Browns has been overlooked. Will Fred and his gang please step up and take a bow? The Browns are riding high in third place today by virtue of a 9-8 decision over the Indians, who have now dropped three in a row. Haney's hopefulness has been hitting hard and if they could only get enough pitching they would be serious contenders for a first division berth.

Inclement weather prevented all the other scheduled games.

Candidates For Kentucky Derby Running Today

Technician Is One Of Favorites, Has Been Groomed For Big Classic Next Week

By CLYDE REECE
International News Service Sports Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 29.—With Derby Day just a week off, race enthusiasts in the Blue Grass state today watched the Churchill Downs card with more than usual interest as five candidates for the classic paraded to the barrier in the Daniel Boone stakes.

Most keenly eyed of the lot was Technician, Herbert M. Woolf's future book favorite. Also named for the six-furlong sprint were John March's Lightspur, Dan Lehan's Fern Creek, and a pair from the stables of Mrs. Ethel V. Mers, Giles county and No Competition.

Derby Candidates
Technician has been pointed for the derby since his victory in the Flamingo stakes at Hialeah Park. Trainer Ben Jones has had the stablemate of Lawrin, last year's derby winner, getting acquainted with the track for several weeks with a series of workouts.

Two more of the outstanding derby hopefuls arrived in their stables yesterday. They are W. L. Braun's Chalcedon and W. E. Boeling's Porter's Mite. Both were said to have withstood the trip well and are in good condition.

Porter's Mite may get a workout in the derby trial on Tuesday but trainer L. J. Schaeffer of Chalcedon said his charge would be conditioned the final week and would not go to the post again until the derby.

Adopt Schedule For City League

City Baseball League Season Will Swing Open On Sunday May 14

The City Baseball league is all set for the opening of the 1939 season on Sunday May 14. It was announced today by Rev. Father Peter Michael Schirra, president of the league following a meeting of the managers and officials of the league last night at St. Josephs Parish hall.

The schedule as drawn up by Joe Samuels was taken up for discussion and finally adopted by the managers by unanimous vote. There will be five games each day and night of the league. There are ten teams in the circuit.

Opening Day Schedule
The schedule for the opening day was announced as follows—
West Pittsburgh vs St. Josephs at Rotary Field.

Union Civics vs Ryantown at Ryantown Field.

Columbus Club vs Slovak Club, Clifton Flat.

Elder A. C. vs West Side Tigers, Lee Avenue.

Lawrence Indies vs K. Pulaski, Glasser Field.

All games on Tuesday and Thursdays will start not later than 6 o'clock. The Sunday games will start at 2:30 o'clock. Domenick Costello head of the City League umpires attended the meeting and gave a fine talk to the managers. He will assign two qualified umpires to every ball game.

Promises Good Umpires
Costello promised that the league would get efficient officiating this summer. The balls and strike boys have been studying the rules and regulations and hope to be able to please the players and fans.

Secretary Michael "Jake" Babovsky made a report on the financial condition of the league, and announced that all clubs have their franchise money in. Father Schirra's planning quite a few ceremonies for the opening game at Rotary Field with the St. Joe's Ecclesians meeting the "Gas House" gang led by Danny DeGenova.

WILL PLAY MONDAY
The Nobils and Gus Stars will play a softball game on Monday night at the Rose Avenue Field at 5:30 o'clock, it was announced today.

Rambling Around World Of Sports

Local sport jottings—New Castle high's track roster includes four Red Hurricane pigskin chasers. Jim Rucker, quarterback. Tom Gilboy, guard, and Jim Toler, halfback, are unusually talented sprinters while Leo Ryglinski, a reserve, is New Castle's Glen Cunningham. The column engineer has been informed that Tony Ross, former heavyweight of yesteryear, is in the fight business again, this time as a trainer. The local "big time" heavy, is handling Louis Roberts, a promising heavyweight, in the Pittsburgh district. . . . Mike Orlando, the Seventh Ward's baseball czar, is all set for the opening of Lawrence county's initial baseball school for youngsters, starting May 1 and ending May 7, on the E. and A. grounds, Mahoningtown. . . .

Odds and ends—Warner Brothers plan spending something like $1,500,000 to produce a picture entitled, "The Life of Knute Rockne". . . . Ellison "Tarzan" Brown, Narragansett Indian, who copped the 43rd annual Boston marathon, lost only two pounds during the event. . . . Joe Kirkwood, famous golf trick shot artist, will be the main attraction in the Sports Forum at the World's Fair. . . . Yale University forbids folks to call Earl Neale, line coach, by his familiar sobriquet "Greasy". . . . The last shall be first, worked all right in the Grand National Steeple chase at Aintree, England. Workman, winner of the event, was listed last in the entry list published before the race was run. . . . Derby Day notes: About 50 specials will transport fans to the classic. Six bands will exude harmony during the day. . . . Some 30 nations have been sent invitations to participate in that international amateur baseball championship series slated for Havana, Cuba, August 12-27.

More baseball stuff—Frankie Crosetti and Lou Gehrig participated in every game played by the Yankees, last season—157. . . . Jimmy Foxx has won the "most valuable" player award three times. . . . The worst season in the history of the Cincinnati Reds occurred back in 1876 when the club won only nine games against 56 losses. They finished in last place. . . . Johnny Allen owns the best pitching average of all major league chasers. The Cleveland artists has won 99 games and lost 36, for a .723 percentage in seven years in the big time. . . . Between the periods 1839-45, baseball batters used a variety of makeshift clubs. Wagon tongues, rakes, ax handles and branches of trees were the rage in those days of moustache baseball. . . .

Commission May Order Galento To Cease Clowning
Louis And Galento Fight Is Getting Colder By The Minute In The East

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, April 29.—Tony Galento's blundering efforts to obtain for himself some publicity and some cash by way of capitalizing on his eminence as challenger for the world heavyweight championship have produced results in three directions, including one not counted on at the beginning. In order, he has been getting the publicity, but most of it has been bad; he has made money, but it has aggregated scarcely more than small change. Thirdly, and this is the one he didn't think up himself, his antics probably have backfired against his fight with Joe Louis on June 28.

A red hot potential million dollar spectacle is getting colder by the minute.

There was some justifiable doubt all along as to whether Galento was and is a bona fide contender, and everything that he has done lately has served to heighten suspicion and wet down what at one time was considerable enthusiasm among the eastern fans. For a time they thought Louis might knock the tarzan of the taverns kicking in a round or two; now they know it. Moreover, his inept attempts to be entertaining suddenly have become increasingly un-funny.

The eastern press has begun to ridicule him more than ever with broadsides that are approaching ridicule, and there is a hint in the air that the chronically pettish New York boxing commission may take a hand in taming tarzan by demanding that he quit clowning and prepare to settle down to a rigid training siege under commission surveillance. The cause of it all is a serious of incidents perpetrated by Galento and by this time slightly annoying to Promoter Mike Jacobs as well as to the commission and the customers. The latter are extremely important.

GUS TEAM WINS FROM K. PULASKI
The Gus softball team won from the K. Pulaski team last night at Sunny avenue field 15 to 11 with Teddy "Peaches" Kolcz sparking the Pulaski hitting attack with a pair of home runs, while Tex Kelley had a homer and triple for the winners. F. Kolo also had a homer for the Oaklanders, with the sacks choked. Score by innings: R. H. E. Gus Stars . . . 031 604 1—15 14 2 K. Pulaskis . . . 021 210 5—11 10 3 Batteries—Gus Stars, Rhodes, Gunther and T. Kelley; Pulaskis, J. Mateja, Pilch and Kula.

INDIES AT ELLWOOD CITY
The New Castle Indies will play the Garrots of Ellwood City at Ellwood City on Sunday at 2:30 o'clock, it was announced today. The Indies will leave at 1:30 o'clock from their usual corner. Either Santangelo or El Augustine will do the pitching for the Indies.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Jewie Coen is getting in trim for the baseball season by directing the planting of 45,000 pine trees to aid wild life. . . . Jack Dempsey and Tony Galento's verbal argument caused Tony to say: "If he comes to Orange I'll hang one upon his chin", to which Dempsey replied: "If he comes to New York, all I need is five minutes to grow a beard, etc.", all of which possibly is the upbuild for the Louis-Galento fight. . . . Some publishers at the Newspapermen's meeting in New York stated the belief that baseball-owners should be more liberal with advertisement inasmuch as some newspapers give away one-third of the page for baseball news. . . . Tom Farrow, colored policeman, fought in the Jimmie Dime stable several years ago. . . . Paris Cangey, formerly known as the "Poison Kid" because he could knock a guy bow-legged with one sock, was in Washington street yesterday. Anytime he fought he gave the fans a thrill. . . . Dick Morgan will have charge of the Altona auto speedway events May 27. Maud Rose, 1938 winner; Rex Mays, Jimmy Snyder, Tony Willman, Mark Light, Tony Hinnshitz are among the entries.

Have our eyes deceiving us... could it be possible that it actually happened... a member of the June graduating class was seen going to school the other day carrying a Betsy Wetsy Doll.

Another popular young man club will throw a dance this evening in the Field Club... the Pro-Indus group will hosts. This group of men are very similar to the famous Townsman group... in fact some men belong to the two organizations. So if you know a Pro-Indus member, maybe you can all meet at the dance.

As every day goes on its way the talk of the coming Mayor election grows stronger... how many are coming out... and who does he really have a chance or will he just split up the vote. Why I know that guy and he doesn't have a chance... and so on until the time comes for announcements. It's rather funny to watch a fellow who is planning to run for an office... he sure tries to make friends that he thinks will do him some good. Some are really sincere and some are rather pathetic... there are several pathetic ones around town today.

How many folks last year planted blue Mexican corn in their garden? Not very many... but a fellow who has plenty of corn could easily find a market for his blue corn. A great many folks say they don't like the dark corn... but if you get a chance this year... try it.

Reading want ads carefully is like looking into people's houses... yes, into their very closets. There are times in most private lives when pressing problems can best be solved by letting the whole town know the problem. This can be done suitably and with desired results only through want ads. One person's problem is usually another's solution... each finds its counterpart in the want ads. The cost to the person making his want know is little... sometimes actually insignificant. So, want ads regularly carry notices of attic cleaning, remodeling, people moving, boarders wanted, cash needed, wheel chairs wanted, households breaking up, and the like. Sometimes a family skeleton comes into plain view.

Stock Market
Is Quite SteadyListless Trading Is Recorded
In New York Market
During DayBy LESLIE GOULD
International News Service Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 29.—The stock market steadied today in listless trading, with turnover for the abbreviated session running to only around 150,000 shares.

Prices were generally lower at the opening, but declines were gradually recovered through the balance of the session. Limited volume and narrow swings in leaders, however, made price movements meaningless.

Many pivotal issues by the close had converted initial fractional losses into modest gains. Although there was a sprinkling of minus signs through the list.

Strength in sugar shares was a feature. American Sugar and Fajardo led with gains of almost a point. Steels also were up moderately, after early softness.

Allied Chemical was one of the few issues to rise a point. Meanwhile, Cerro de Pasco and Coca-Cola each dropped a point before meeting support. Elsewhere changes were negligible.

CROWD APPLAUDS
BENEFIT OPERETTAWashington Performers Star
Last Night; Profits To
To Dress Up Lawn

Presentation of an entertaining Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "The Pirates of Penzance," thrilled an audience of parents and community friends of a talented cast of George Washington Junior-senior high school performers last night. Proceeds will help to beautify the school grounds.

The operetta was given in Washington's auditorium.

In three acts, the stage production, developed to an unusual degree of perfection, was enacted under the guidance of teachers. The Washington orchestra played under the direction of John E. Faton.

Leads in the operetta, named earlier this week in The News, won the generous applause that an appreciative audience never fails to give.

And the chorus group did well, too, and won a hearty hand for its performance.

The chorus and faculty committee members include:

Marionette Show
At Croton SchoolClever Program Presented,
Friday Afternoon; Other
Performances Planned

Cleverly presented was the marionette performance of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," adapted from the motion picture and performed by the 6A class of Croton avenue school, on Friday afternoon, in the school.

On the professional, standard, marionette stage, erected in the school hallway, the children manipulated their marionettes and spoke their dialogues in an excellent manner, with Miss Leona Sankey in charge. All of the scenery and marionettes, the latter measuring 18 inches in height, were made by the 6A class, under the direction of Miss Claudia Bauman. The furniture and properties were made by the Adjustment class of the school, with Miss Ruth Drescher as supervisor, and Miss Mildred Sargeant in charge of sound effects. INTERMENT SUNDAY
AT LOCAL CEMETERY

Mrs. Anna Belle Shaner Crocker, 73 wife of Harry Crocker, Buffalo, who died in that city Thursday, is to be buried Sunday afternoon in King's Chapel cemetery, near New Castle, after services at 2:30 in the Love funeral home, Sharon. Her daughter, Mrs. Lawrence Redmond, lives in Sharon.

It is better to have your wife as a bride opponent. When you beat any other lady, good manners deny you the fun of crowing.

The love of money is also the root of most yellow streaks.
